

Banner Baywood
Medical Center

NEUROSCIENCES

John J. Rhodes Rehabilitation Center helps recovery

The John J. Rhodes Rehabilitation Center is an inpatient rehabilitation program at Banner Baywood Medical Center. Our experts assist patients in adapting to disabilities in order to enhance their quality of life. We help to maximize patients' functional abilities, prevent complications and promote healthy behaviors following an illness or injury.

Since the goal is to get patients back to their homes as quickly as possible, family members are given opportunities to participate in the patient's rehabilitation. Loved ones also take part in counseling and training to help them provide ongoing care.

We can also assist in identifying financial resources, support groups and other community resources.

The Center is accredited through the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. The program has served the Phoenix metropolitan area since 1983.

Our Patients

We serve individuals with conditions such as amputations, Multiple Sclerosis, Muscular Dystrophy, orthopedic trauma, Parkinson's disease, polyneuropathy, spinal cord or brain injury, major multiple trauma, rheumatoid arthritis, and stroke.

Our Services

- Physical therapy
- Occupational therapy
- Speech therapy
- Comprehensive therapy program, including body-weight-supported gait therapy
- Primarily one-on-one therapy treatment

- In-house hospital services, including emergency services and diagnostic testing
- Weekly conferences to discuss patient care
- Home evaluations prior to discharge, as needed

Our Team

We emphasize a coordinated approach to treatment. Our team includes: rehabilitation physicians, case managers and nurses; referring/attending physicians; neuropsychologists; physical therapists; occupational therapists; speech-language pathologists; social services discharge planning; recreational therapists; and prosthetics/orthotics.

Program Referrals

Most insurance plans offer rehabilitation benefits. We contract with many insurance providers including HMOs, PPOs, PHOs, Medicare, auto insurance and indemnity plans. To learn more about the John J. Rhodes Rehabilitation Center and its services, please call (480) 321-4901.