I'm working on learning the core vocabulary in my device but I'm a long way from knowing all the words.

My teacher is asking questions about the lesson and the words to answer her questions aren't in my device and, I'm not a good enough speller to spell them.

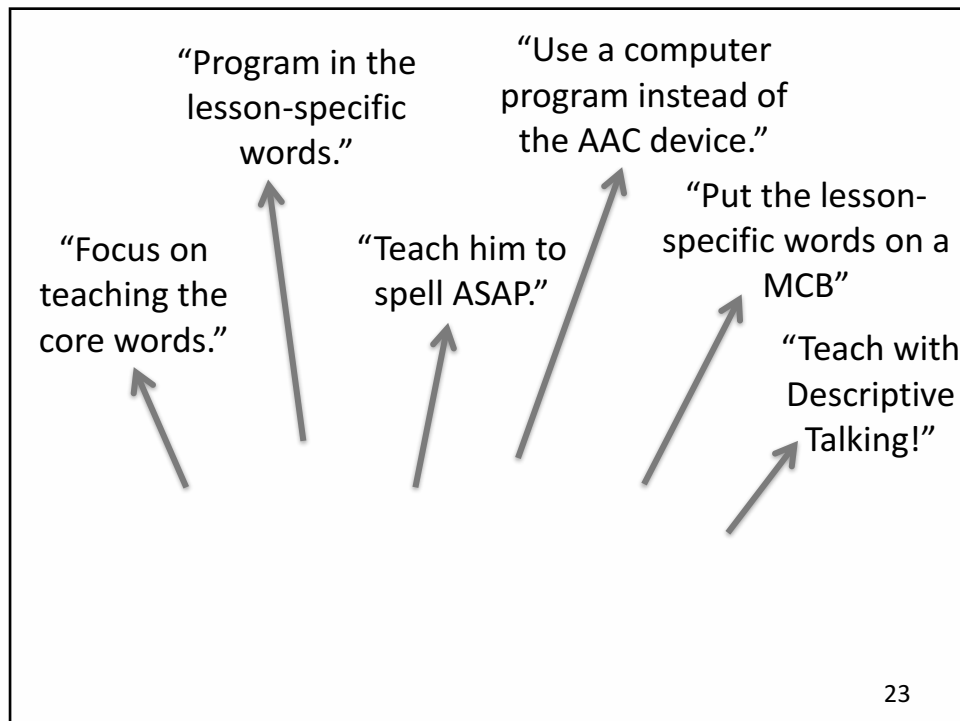

How are my teachers going to teach me?

The Strategy Preferred by Gen Ed Teachers

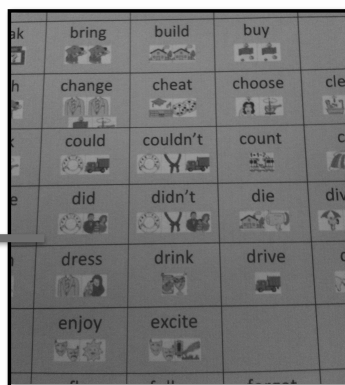

- Provide an at-a-glance “visual dictionary”
 - that shows the most important words in the device (core and some extended) that the student needs to learn how to say
 - but not ALL the words that are in the device or which the student needs to learn how to say

47

Visual Dictionary with 350+/- words

This visual dictionary is a commercial product (Natural Aided Language Board-NALB) sold by Gail Van Tatenhove and is pre-made for students using Unity or LAMP Words for Life; or with printed words only to customize for any program or AAC device/app. The NALB comes on a CD for you to print and put together. What words ARE in the device?

- Teach how to look-up words NOT on the visual dictionary
 - check in the paper or e-manual (if provided)
 - use emulation software on an external computer (if available)
 - use the “dictionary” in the device (if available)
- Explain the purpose and need of government.
 - The government keeps people safe.
 - The government takes care of things I can’t do myself.
 - They vote on stuff.
 - They pass laws.

pass  *law

Descriptive Teaching, Talking, and Talking

Gail M. Van Tatenhove, PA, MS, CCC-SP

Conversations with Gail, April 2015

Perspective on Extended Vocabulary

- Extended vocabulary words are usually the specific content words of a lesson
- The content words of the lesson are NOT bad words
- Hearing and learning content words is important for language enrichment,
 - but putting the emphasis on them in a lesson, when the student hasn't learned the core vocabulary, is not a good use of time when learning to talk with an AAC device/app

75

Essential Subject-Specific Words

- Some subject-specific content words are essential to a subject and should, if not already, be added.

Example from Unity®60 Sequenced, from Prentke Romich Company. Used with permission. 76

Descriptive Teaching, Talking, and Talking

Gail M. Van Tatenhove, PA, MS, CCC-SP

Conversations with Gail, April 2015

Subject-Specific Academic Words

- Identify essential subject-specific words
 - How many concepts of a subject are core vocabulary words?
 - What words make participation in a subject a lot easier because they are programmed in the device?
 - Example a: Add critical language arts words
 - Example 2: Add math words that NOT in most AAC vocabulary sets: fraction, difference, borrow, pattern, difference, equation, remainder

77

Descriptive Talking and Writing

- Written text requires a topic sentence which generally requires specificity. After the topic sentence, then core vocabulary can take over to express supporting ideas, but for the topic sentence, you need lesson content words.
- Example: Which is the better topic sentence?
 - "My favorite person who writes books is the woman who wrote about old days when women needed a husband."
 - "My favorite author is Jane Austin."
